Moore next meditated suicide; and we hear of him a day or two afterward under the hands of a physician, who succeeded in relieving his system of some two or three ounces of laudanum and saving his life. Despairing now of possessing himself of the object of his affections while her lawful husband lived, he determined to resort to what he perhaps, considered a genteel way of putting Mr. Haislop out of the way, or perchance of falling a victim himself, and perishing bravely. So he indicated and sent a challenge to mortal combat, of which the following is a copy:

Hoping that your meeting will be well attended,

Our readers will recollect the celebrated expedition of Commodore Perry to Japan, and the great exploit in the way of a treaty performed by it. Japan was supposed to be opened to the commerce of the world, and the Japanese thereby introduced into the common fraternity. Mr. Fillmore originated the project of an expedition to that remote corner of the world, and President Pierce carried it out. It was not settled which was entitled to the glory of the achievement, but as there was glory enough in the affair for two Presidents, it was divided between them; plenty for both. Simoda and Hackadadi. Several citizens of the United States recently sailed for those ports, to establish themselves at one of them, in order to furnish our whaling ships in that region with necessaries that could not be supplied by the Japanese. They landed at Simoda, and went ashore without molestation. They were regarded with susies of life, and those at exorbitant prices, a though there was the greatest abundance Their vessel was gone to carry home some shinwrecked Russians. They were permitted to remain until it returned. Application was made to Commodore Rodgers, who addressed a communication to the Governor of Simoda, referring to the ter than any similar publication at the same price treaty, which guarantied, in express terms, the west of the mountains. The uniform rate at which right of temporary residence in certain localities it is supplied makes its terms easily remembered, and limits. The Governor, however, meant by and the change convenient for remittance. temporary, a short and limited period; he so understands the term temporary. And as to unrestrained liberty, it means only the liberty to be watched by officials at every step, and constantly reminded of being trespassers.

Temporary residence is well understood here, as well as in Europe-a residence at discretion, without citizenship, but with the freedom of trade and to the term, whether in good faith or not, remains Our citizens were compelled to abandon their business and return home, with a loss of the chances of trade, and a direct loss of property involved in the enterprise.

So this great treaty has ended in moonship and nothing but the glory is left of it. The Japanese are Know-Nothings, and are determined to of the "American" party. They have already They have set a brilliant example to the advocates of intense "Americanism."

This is the essential portion of nearly a column of remarks which the editor of the Democrat bestowed the other day upon our article on the Judiciary. The Major brought the Convention down by this volley, and fell back for the report of the Committee on the vote for Lieutenant Governor.

The Major was a little too late. The physic had already been taken at the hands of the Know-Nothing doctors at Philadelphia, and the patien was gasping in the death struggle. The unwelcome epitaph must be recorded on the tombston of the short-lived sufferer, in spite of Major Ben's hopes of a better fate, as a warning in future to all presumptuous political sinners.

Mr. Hardy, the District Attorney, in his reply read the decision of the various courts, to show that it is only necessary that a crime be charged to authorize the Governor to grant a requisition. He read the requisition, showing that the Govern-or says that 'the affidavit is "duly authenticated according to the laws of our State"-that it contains the seal of the State of Ohio, and the Govern-or's signature. He contended that this consti-tuted the "certificate" of the Governor, in a man-

THE BRITISH IN THE CRIMEA .- The London Times is busy savagely attacking Gen. Simpson, the British Commander in-chief in the Crimea, for his incapacity, proofs of which, it is alleged, are very manifest in the late assault upon Sevastopol. A comparison is made of the British with the French attack on the Malakoff, the latter of which was successful, while the former met with a repulse. The French General, having the means, crowded immense masses of men into the Malakoff till the Russians were exhausted with destroying them. Continuous heavy columns of French troops them. Continuous heavy columns of French troops pressed in, so that retreat was impossible for those who entered, and dislodging them without destroy-ing them was not to be effected. The, English on the other hand, made the attack on the Redan with a slim column of only 1800 men, and the commander neglected to provide or failed to send reserves of support when the attacking column so greatly needed them. The most complete and paralyzing confusion ensued. The Russians recovery alyzing confusion ensued. The Russians recovered from their first surprise, and furiously drove the struggling British out at the point of the bayonet. The English trenches were twice or thrica as far from the point to be assailed as the French, and were so narrow and inconvenient that the troops assembled in them were so crowded as to render the preservation of order utterly impossible. Reiterated remonstrances had been made by the French commanders on the ground of the danger and impolicy of not pushing the sap close up to and impolicy of not pushing the sap close up to the ditch, but in vain.

It is convenient to have a scape-goat to bear others' errors; Simpson, like Raglan, is suffering in this way. It has been clearly demonstrated in the present war that the failures of the British, that the land and are are wing to a had system. both on land and sea, are owing to a bad system and a bad administration at home. Generals and Admirals are sent out with means totally inade-Admirals are sent out with means totally inade-quate to accomplish the result expected, and when they fail, as fail they must, a great clamor is raised against the unfortunate leaders, with a view of diverting attention from the real causes of the want of success. Its progress is watched, and eagerly heralded by journals advocating royal and priestly prerogatives, since it affords a common ground of hostility abroad, alike to the spirit of emigration and the benefits of free institutions. What is Know-Nothingism but the extended development of the ideas attached to privileges of birth and family? But ought religion to meddle with polities in a constitutional government? Should not this element, of all others, be jealously excluded from the great issues of the day? Has not fanaticism been at the bottom of the bloodiest and fiercest revolutions of all time? And is it not to be hoped that mediaval darkness has disampared before the allowed. tions of all time? And is it not to be hoped that medieval darkness has disappeared before the glorious rising of the sun of Bible truth, and that the age is now past, when a man is to be persecuted for conscience sake, and least of all, in republican America? I apprehend we have little to fear from the influence and spread of a religion like Catholicism, which has never found a permanent lodgment in Anglo-Saxon soil, and never can; and which now is compelled to "propagate and rot" in such lands as Italy and Spain; and which another century of intellectual development in America bids fair to obliterate. "As the old field where you are stationed, if I recollect right, affords no natural shelter for riflemen, I would recommend it to you to intersect it with a number of small trenches, at the distance of sixty or seventy yards, one in the rear of the other. The red hair and blue eyes have heretofore been difficult to take; but it is no lon light and shade. The new Sky Light operates as well in cloudy as in clear weather, and gives the likeness the true tone of life. The public will therefore look to their own interest by calling on Roesberg before going to any ther gallery, as there you can buy cheaper, receive a potter case, and a much truer likeness than at any other place in the city. Just received, a splendid lot of handsome cases, such

**The election for member of Council in the Nineteenth Ward to oday, to fill the vacancy occasioned by death, resulted in the success of the American candidate. There was considerable ricting at the polls. A notorious rowdy, named king, was shot by the police, and it is thought fatally injured. Several others were wounded, but not dangerously.

ST. Louis, Oct. 18. It was rumored at Lexington, Mo., yesterday, that Gov. Reeder had been murdered, at St. Josephs, but it is pronounced a hoax. The editor of the Lexington Express says that Gov. Reeder has been fighting, but is not injured.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18. There is fresh trouble on the Brantford Railroad. A body of armed Irishmen tore down the bridge yesterday, and will not allow the trains to pass. They made an attempt to-day, also, to stop the train on the upper side of the bridge, going west. More difficulties anticipated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. The steamship Maury was seized in this port yesterday, on suspicion of having been fitted out as a privateer to sail under Russian colors. PITTSBURG, Oct. 18.

Col. Daniel McCurry, a well-known druggist, formerly a prominent leader of the American par-ty, was found drowned, in the river, at the point, to-day.

ARRIVAL OF THE ATLANTIC. NEW YORK, Oct 18. The steamship Atlantic was announced at Sandy Hook at 6 o'clock this morning, and reached dock at half-past 8 o'clock. She brings intelligence that the Russians were defeated near Eupatoria by the French cavalry, with a loss of 50 killed and 105 taken prisoners. The French lost 6 killed and 27 wounded. Prince Gortschakoff reports, on the 3d of Octo-ber, that an ineffectual movement had been made on his left flank.

The allied fleet had sailed on a secret expedition, supposed to be directed against Nicolaieff and Odessa.

The Emperor is at Odessa. He has issued an encouraging address to the Russian people, and will shortly be in the Crimea.

A collision is anticipated between the western powers of the King of Greece, on account of the Russian propensities of the latter.

The food question is still a matter of serious import, both in France and Germany.

The southern portion of Sevastopol is to be blown up by the allies, and mines are now being sunk for the purpose.

Prince Gortschakoff's army is threatened by a large force of the allies from Eupatoria.

The steamship Africa, from Boston, New York, and Halifax, was signalled below Liverpool on Saturday, October 6th.

The Atlantic brings intelligence to Saturday, the 6th She has 217 passengers. The Atlantic passed the steamship Africa in the river, on the evening of the 6th; she also passed the steamship America on the evening of the 14th, forty-five miles west of Cape Race.

The steamship Erricson arrived at Cowes on Friday, the 5th inst., and the steamship Arago reached Southampton the same day.

M. SOLOMONS; SIR: THE benefit I have derived from the Spectacles obtained from you, induces me to express the pleasure I have received from them. They suit my sight to admiration, by candlelight as well as day; I read with the same case as when a boy, which I could not do with any other glasses I have used. Tours, truly.

Louisville, Dec. 28, 1884.

Mr. Solomons: Being compelled to wear Spectacles, have never been able toget a pair but what made my eyes ache—I have tried a great many glasses, but always failed, until I obtained a pair from you. I can see by day or candlelight for any length of time, with the greatest case and comfort. Mrs. Wells is very much pleased with her glasses.

I remain yours, truly,
No.084 Jefferson street, next door to Preston.

Mr. Solomons: Sir—When you first arrived in this city, I called with Mrs. Beattie at your office, and purchased four pairs of your Patent Spectacles. We found them superior to any we had ever used before. They realized more than we could have expected. We can now see as comfortably as when a girl and boy.

I remain yours, respectfully,
A. BEATTIE, Fourth street.

Mr. Solomons can be seen at his office, on Fourth st.

MR. SOLOMONS: ABOUT FOUR months since I purchased a pair your aspectacles and at that time could not read without them. I now find my sight so much improved by their use, that I can read ordinary newspaper print without them as well as I could before I used spectacles.

Groceries, Glassware, Tarred Rope, Plows, &c., AT AUCTION. ON TO-MORROW MORNING

College, Brook, and Jacob Street Lots

We have Democratic victories, and we have Republican victories;—but Know-Nothing victories, where are they? Election follows election, and in turn brings encouragement and joy to all other parties, but to the Know-Nothings, each leaves behind nothing but cold disappointment. "Sam" is no longer the character he was. He has had losses, and he feels it. He swaggers no more. Trouble has made him prematurely old—sent him already into the sixth age, and the big manly voice we heard so much of last year is "turning again toward childish treble." People look at him and shake their heads, and prophesy that he is not long for this world. His best friends no longer feel the pride in him they did. They are loth to salute him with his old pet name; and almost all their talk of him now is in an interceding, deprecating, strain. Times have changed bitterly with "Sam" within the last twelve month.

It is a notable reverse of fortune indeed, but not, We have Democratic victories, and we have Restrain. Times have changed bitterly with "Sam" within the last twelve month.

It is a notable reverse of fortune indeed, but not, like many others, the result of chance or accident. The main cause of it has been—folly. The Know-Nothings have misjudged and mismanaged egregiously. They have committed the fatal error of trusting to mere mechanism for success—of believing that a system of secret organization which gave them their original impulse, was sufficient of itself to maintain them in position. Last year the Know-Nothing Order was a new thing. It had the charm of novelty, and the advantage also of appealing to a widely diffused anti-foreign feeling. Its secret affiliation gave it compactness, discipline, and strength, and enabled it, especially when siding as it usually did with the anti-Nebraska sentiment, to effect great triumphs. But these triumphs it in no case turned to any practical purpose. It ment, to effect great triumphs. But these triumphs it in no case turned to any practical purpose. It established no new measure, and carried out no definite change of policy. It spent its energies in hidden intrigues, and undertook to satisfy the people with high-sounding generalities, of no practical account whatever. It resisted the appeals of great numbers of its well-wishers to abolish its oaths, divest itself of its secret character, and rest its claims solely upon defined principles and rendered reasons. It was asked in vain to give a shape to its declarations, that should furnish a guaranty against proscription and intolerance in matters of religion, and it habitually indulged itself in stirring up sectarian prejudice and animosity. This disposition no sooner became a settled and an understood thing, than the consequences were at once predicted. Every dispassionate, reflecting man, knew that it was impossible to give any such organization the status of a permanently powerful party. It might call itself "American" in name, but it was essentially un-American in form, in spirit, and in operation.

"American" in name, but it was essentially unAmerican in form, in spirit, and in operation.

The two first requisites in the movement of republican government, are freedom of volition, and publicity of action, and it was by the direct contravention of these that the Order undertook to succeed. Know-Nothingism could not remain popular. Every election through the present year has shown most unmistakably that it has forfeited public confidence. All sections alike repudiate it. At the West it has hardly dared of late to show its head. In the South, in spite of its ap peal to sectional jealousy by holding out the prospeet of injuring the North by cutting down the immigration which has so much promoted the growth of the North, it has been beaten by overwhelming majorities, in spite of its having enlistgrowth of the North, it has been beaten by over-whelming majorities, in spite of its having enlist-ed into its service almost the entire body of the old Whig party. And at the North, where the evil effects of our present system of naturaliza-tion have been the most felt, the Order has no-where achieved an independent victory, and the latest elections have shown that it is not only im-potent itself, but that all alliance with it is fatal. In the only two important contests which are now going on, that of New York and of Massa-chusetts, it is compelled to fight alone and unaid-ed, and without the slightest reasonable hope of success. Nowhere is there a change of its retrievess. Nowhere is there a chance of its retriev success. Nowhere is there a chance of its retrieving itself.

Though the Know-Nothing organization has not made, and may not make, as such, any permanent impress upon the legislation of the country, yet its existence has, on the whole, been a public good. It has aroused the public mind all over the country to a wholesome jealousy of a banded foreign vote, and has made it a losing business for demagogues to court that vote in the cajoling and truckling spirit they once did. It has made the immigrants themselves better understand the tenure on which they hold their American franchises and principles, and taught them the necessity of more care to assimilate themselves with the Americans in thought, and feeling, and action. We doubt whether it will tend to any modification of the naturalization laws, or to any very important acts of State legislation, for the growing unpopularity of the Order will materially prejudice all measures associated with it; yet the improved state of public opinion, in regard to the relations of our foreign-born population, will have diminished in some degree the necessity for these legislative correctives. The American people generally condemn the shape of the organization and its mode of action, more than they do its profe-sed general purposes. The better part of them owe it no particular gradge except for what it has made itself. It has been its own worst enemy.—N. Y. Cour. & Eng.

LOUISVILLE, KY, THOMAS COWELL & CO., DEALERS IN Clothing and Furnishing Goods, Canes, Umbrellas, &c. Particular attention paid to Ordered Work.

WE ARE RECEIVING OUR
Fall and Winter stock, which we feel safe in recommending as one of the most elegant and tasteful ever opened in the Falls City. Every taste has been consulted in the selection, and all we desire is an examination, with the confidence that it is all we will need to convince any one of our ability to satisfy the most fastidious. If there is any doubt about it, the only fair test is a trial. We respectfully invite all in need of anything in our line.

J. P. L. thinks it unnecessary to mention all the Dances and Waltzes he will teach in his school. The great number of pupils he has taught in this city for the last ten years is the best recommendation he can offer. Notwithstanding all the Fancy Dances and Waltzes J. P. L. is acquainted with, he takes pleasure in stating that on his visit to the South he has met with his friend Pingally Dritsk, from the Opera of Paris, and when here the principal Dancer of Placide's Varieties. Through his kindness J. P. L. has come in possession of the mostrecent Dances, viz:

These Wigs were invented by Richard Beck, of London, and made by one of the gentlemen in my establishment, who took the highest promium for the best Wigs on exhibition at the Industrial Exhibition, London, in 1854. They are warrnted not to shrink; (those who have worn Wigs know that the greatest comfort in a Wig is in one that will not shrink at all.;) besides they are so close a resemblance to nature as to defy detection. And to enable gentlemen to see the effect, a large assortment is kept on hand for inspection, any of which, if approved of save the purchaser both time and trouble, as these elegant specimens of Wigs cannot be found elsewhere. Also, a splendid assortment of Ladies Wigs, Half Wigs, Braids, and Curls, always on hand and made to order at the shortest notice.
